

THE LAW AND POLITICAL ECONOMY OF CITIZENSHIP

A joint event of the Berlin-Brandenburg Academy of Science and Humanities (BBAW), the Max Planck Institute for Tax Law and Public Finance and the Max Planck Institute for Religious and Ethnic Diversity

Friday, 8 November 2019, 9:45 a.m.–7 p.m.

Academy building

Einstein Hall, Jägerstraße 22/23, 10117 Berlin

Registration until 4.11. at: nina.kuljian@tax.mpg.de

©iStock/yuoak

International mobility in a globalized world is changing the meaning and concept of citizenship. Citizenship was a central bond between the individual and his or her nation, was typically acquired by birth, and was the point of reference for a number of mutual rights, obligations and allegiance. Mobility provides opportunities but also challenges for this concept. To analyze this change and its implications, lawyers and economists from two Max Planck Institutes in conjunction with the Berlin-Brandenburg Academy of Science and Humanities are organizing the symposium “The Law and Political Economy of Citizenship”.

The event will bring together scholars from various disciplines such as law, political economy, and philosophy to present and discuss their work on the topic and exchange their research results and views.

No admission is charged. Registration is required. The number of seats is limited. Seats will be allocated in the order of registrations received.

Max Planck Institute for Tax Law and Public Finance

Max Planck Institute for the Study of Religious and Ethnic Diversity

MAX-PLANCK-GESELLSCHAFT

Further information:

Franziska Urban / furban@bbaw.de

Berlin-Brandenburg Academy of Sciences and Humanities
Jägerstraße 22/23, 10117 Berlin

bbaw.de/en/

Directions:

S-Bahn: Friedrichstraße / U2: Hausvogteiplatz or Stadtmitte / U6:
Französische Straße or Stadtmitte

9:45-10:00 a.m.Welcome and Opening Remarks

Kai A. Konrad

MPI for Tax Law and Public Finance

BBAW

Wolfgang Schön

MPI for Tax Law and Public Finance

BBAW

Ayelet Shachar

MPI for the Study of Religious and

Ethnic Diversity

Tax Panel:

10:00-11:10 a.m.Tax Justice in the Era of Mobility and Fragmentation

Tsilly Dagan

Bar Ilan University

11:10-11:30 a.m.....Coffee Break

11:30 a.m.-12:40 p.m.Is Everybody Obligated to Pay Taxes Somewhere?

Wolfgang Schön

MPI for Tax Law and Public Finance

BBAW

12:40-1:30 p.m.Lunch Break

Law and Ethics Panel:

1:30-2:40 p.m.Tax Competition and Global Interdependence

Mathias Risse

Kennedy School of Government,

Harvard University

2:40-3:50 p.m.Citizenship's Properties: From Fee Tail to Fee Simple?

Ayelet Shachar

MPI for the Study of Religious and

Ethnic Diversity

Commentator:

Liav Orgad

WZB Berlin Social Science Center

3:50-4:20 p.m.Coffee Break

Political Economy Panel:

4:20-5:10 p.m.Citizenship for Sale,
a Dilemma of Rights

Kai A. Konrad

MPI for Tax Law and Public Finance

BBAW

Ray Rees

University of Sydney/

Ludwig-Maximilians-Universität München

5:10-6:00p.m.Immigrant Voting Rights: Considerations on Power Sharing and Integration

Alois Stutzer

University of Basel

6:00-6:10 p.m.Coffee Break

6:10-7:00p.m.A Property Rights Approach to Temporary Work Visas

Alessandra Casella

Columbia University

Adam B. Cox

New York University

Further information:

Franziska Urban / furban@bbaw.de

Berlin-Brandenburg Academy of Sciences and Humanities
Jägerstraße 22/23, 10117 Berlin

bbaw.de/en/

Directions:

S-Bahn: Friedrichstraße / U2: Hausvogteiplatz or Stadtmitte / U6:
Französische Straße or Stadtmitte